You talk "zoning" with your client when you plan lighting, heating, air conditioning, and the flow of materials, production and people. We talk "zoning" when helping you design internal communications to attain maximum efficiency in the free flow of vital information.

Zoning is a planning concept. It has proven to be the most effective way to provide for all the specialized needs of various people and departments in a completely integrated communications system.

WE CALL IT "ZONED" COMMUNICATIONS

PROVIDES CONVENIENT EXTRAS It may be as simple as a conversation between two people or as complex as a group conference. It may also include paging, time and emergency signals, and music distribution. Requirements for private conversation, hands-free operation, remote answering, direct or automatic dial connection can all be met with Teletalk equipment.

WIDEST CHOICE OF SYSTEMS You have a choice of Teletalk® loudspeaking intercom, private and automatic dial equipment, and sound. They may be used in combination in a zoned network to provide the best communications tool for each zone.

EXPERT COUNSEL Only Webster offers such a variety of methods and such a full range of special features. Only Webster, too, offers such expert counsel. Webster consultants are highly skilled at planning and installing communications systems tailored to meet the immediate and future needs of business and professional offices, industry, schools and churches.
